Unannounced inspection finds Mercy Home in ‘substantial compliance’ with COVID-19 federal requirements

EAGLE LAKE, Maine (June 30, 2020) – Without advance notice, the Maine Department of Health and Human Services’ Licensing and Certification division visited Mercy Home on June 11. An onsite inspection found the nursing home in “substantial compliance” with federal Emergency Preparedness codes and regulations relating to the novel coronavirus.

The Focused Infection Control / COVID-19 Survey specifically homed in on “proper infection prevention and control (IPC) practices to prevent the development and transmission of COVID-19.”

No deficiencies were cited, with the official summary sent to Mercy Home Multi-Level Administrator Denise Raymond on June 29. To read the accompanying letter from DHHS, please click HERE.

Mercy Home is Northern Maine General’s Long-Term Care residential and nursing home facility in Eagle Lake.

“I am proud of the work Mercy Home has done and the commitment made toward safeguarding our most vulnerable population and the employees who support them,” said NMG CEO Michelle Raymond.
